God is Moving on Behalf of the Orphanage

Armed gangs are strong against the Haitian people. God's grace and mercy are stronger for the Haitian people. Armed gangs are blocking roads, randomly killing, and kidnapping pastors and anyone else they can ransom for a few dollars. However, God has intervened on behalf of the orphanage. Pastor Aladin Calixte reported that the roadblocks and shooting near the orphanage have stopped. People are able to leave their homes. Street vendors are able to setup and sell their goods. The orphanage school will restart on Monday. People who left because of dangers are returning home. Construction will resume in late March if peace is maintained in the area. Pastor Aladin Calixte is praising and thanking God for your many prayers. Please continue to pray for all of Haiti.

God is Making a Way in the Wilderness

Roads have become too dangerous to try sneaking through roadblocks as Pastor Wisny Exima did to get these uniforms, food, school supplies, and other needs to Marre Blanche. Learn more as this story continues...

A Way in a Wilderness Continued...

To avoid taking unnecessary risks, Pastor Wisny Exima discovered a mountain route high above Port-au-Prince to transport $2,000 worth of food for one month. If he were traveling the regular route he could transport a two-month supply. This mountain trek is narrow with little traction. On this trip a truck ahead of him slid off the mountain and into a pond. The driver was seriously hurt, but alive. His next hurdle was the road up the mountain from Jacmel to Marre Blanche, to our school campus, where it had been raining and dangerous. He constantly says how much he appreciates all of your prayers.

Droughts Remain a Threat

Storing enough water to get Marre Blanche through their periodic droughts continues to be a problem. The men in the photo are using PVC pipe to repair the aqueduct. Their only source of water is from rain transported through the pipes, into a cistern under one floor, and retrieved by a generator powered pump. For weeks the cistern was dry. Their crops suffered. In order to prepare school food, they borrowed water from other cistern owners.

Pastor Wisny was in the white truck. His traveling assistant, Freud Ogisma, took the photos.
